

CdLS Awareness Day, Sydney, Saturday May 13th 2017

It's that time of year again! Let's celebrate and bring awareness to people about Cornelia de Lange Syndrome by enjoying each other's company at our Sydney annual CdLS Picnic. This year it will be held on the 13th of May at Mt Annan Botanical Garden's at the Woodland Picnic Area at 11.30am for a picnic lunch. There will be purple balloons on the side of the road so you know you will be in the right spot and if you want to wear purple for the occasion that will be great. Please bring along your family, friends and a picnic lunch.

What a great day we had last year! We can't wait to meet new families and to continue building relationships with families we have already met. What a great opportunity it is to get to know other children and adults with CdLS and their supportive families.

Thank you once again to Lauren Stanley for organising this event. We hope to see you there.
